EXP-308

With its adjustable motor speeds and programmable wrap counts the Exp-308 is a more versatile machine than the Exp-408; particularly useful if your wrap a wide range of product types. When run at full speed it is 20% faster than the Exp-408 giving it a realistic output of 25-30 pallets per hour yet the machine remains very simple to program and operate. It has a "quick release" control making the adjustment of the tension very easy to do during a wrap cycle which is ideal if wrapping light products or pallets of mixed weights such as heavy boxes on the bottom and light ones on the top.

EXP-501

The Exp-501 is a traditional turntable type machine that has been designed to be as automatic as possible. Once the film has been loaded into the film jaw clamps there is no need to attach the film to the pallet in the normal way. At the end of the cycle the machine cuts the film with a hot wire, secures the tail end on to the pallet and then grips the film ready for the next load. It even comes with a remote control so if loaded by a lift truck the driver does not have to get out of his vehicle. This machine also comes complete with a heavy duty ramp.
